

Stay Home, Stay Healthy

We recognize that the recent directive to "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" is a strong effort to stop the spread of the coronavirus in our community.

As the days goes by, we are faced with increasing challenges. The shelter is out of gloves, masks, disinfectant, and we are spending an additional $20,000 a week in expenses, to meet the demands of the impact of the virus. Please read this article that was published today in ProPublica, in which we have shared not only the challenges but the risks we are taking to provide a safe haven for women experiencing homelessness.

You have been with us in many ways, but we must ask you to dig deeper and help us in this very challenging time. The lives of the women we serve depend on your support.

You, along with your whole community, are in our thoughts and we hope that you are taking care during this crisis. Amidst all the stress and uncertainty, it has never been more critical to stay connected with one another – even as we observe "stay home" to keep each other healthy and safe.

Because the health crisis is rapidly changing, sometimes within hours, we will continue to inform you regularly of key changes and needs. Below you will find our most recent updates.

With wishes for you and your family's good health,

Alisa Chatinsky
Executive Director

We are taking daily health assessments of clients and staff, while being rigorous about handwashing and cleaning of the shelters. Currently we have no confirmed cases of infection.
